AEC
NTC.1W

The Fashion Marketing program (AEC) trains individuals to play a managing role in the ever-evolving fashion world. The tasks related to this profession are interesting and varied, covering areas such as : buying, selling, promoting and distributing fashion products, forecasting styles and trends and assessing communication needs and marketing strategies.

The program combines the creative and administrative facets of the industry, offering students a solid marketing training, while benefiting from Montreal's fashion environment.

It features conferences and visits and provides students with the possibility of participating in several fashion events. The courses are given by professionals abreast of the latest trends in the industry and provide students with all the necessary tools required to quickly turn their skills into a successful career.

Diploma

This program leads to an Attestation of College Studies (AEC).
